Mission Statement

In conjunction with parents/families IDEA: Center for Excellence works with students struggling with reading to develop persistence, resilience, and confidence through academic and social skills and to enhance executive function capacity through 1:1 interaction with tutors for 52 hours during the Summer Carnegie Program. Woodcock Johnson Reading Mastery reading scores provide parents and teachers with formative results to guide further instruction.

Eligibility

Eligibility is determined after being screened by the staff of IDEA. Evaluators do not diagnose dyslexia but will assess whether the instructional methods used by IDEA can adequately address a student's learning needs. The screening evaluation includes a series of educational assessments that serve as predictors of reading difficulties. Screenings are conducted in April each year. Please notify IDEA Director Lois Combs Weinberg at bilo5@me.com or 606-276-7423 to schedule a screening evaluation for April 2020 at Carnegie Center.

TRAINED STAFF:

In Summer School Tutoring supervisors and tutors are trained in comprehensive Orton Gillingham curriculum and methodology

A Multi-Sensory Orton Gillingham based approach is used in the Summer School.
